

Triad Invasive Species Alert: Fig Buttercup (Ficaria verna)

We Need Your Help!

Fig buttercup is an aggressive plant that is rapidly invading urban floodplains and outcompeting native species. To increase monitoring and tracking, we ask that you watch out for this invasive as you enjoy nature.

Be a Citizen Scientist!

Report Sightings to iNaturalist

SCAN ME

Use this QR code to learn more about Fig Buttercup or visit <https://www.inaturalist.org/projects/fig-buttercup-in-the-triad>

Bright yellow flowers with 8-12 petals, present February - May

Shiny, dark green, kidney/heart shaped leaves with wavy edges

Low growing and often forms dense ground coverage